

IN THE ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE:

Please replace the Abstract of Disclosure with the following new Abstract:

a-1
In driving a liquid crystal display device, respective voltages of picture signals supplied in subframe periods are changed so as to enlarge a voltage difference between a gradation voltage of a picture signal supplied in the first subframe period and a gradation voltage of a picture signal supplied in the second subframe period.